Frosh stomp South; go 4-2 for year

Hub defense, led by C. Kunkel, are in pursuit of Martinsburg quarterback.

Sporting enthusiasm, depth, and team effort, North's Frosh thundered through their first year of competition. Quarterbacked by energetic Steve Greathead, the Baby Hubs sponsored a powerful scoring machine. Nelson Coles, Al Mariner, Dave Ghysels, Jeff Fignar, and Randall Johnson played extremely well for the offense. Standout defenders included lineman Scott Dutton and linebacker Jeff Diseati.

Despite lack of personnel and depth Coach Johnson's JV's fought to attain a respectable record for the '72 slate. The Little Hubs with eight freshmen on their roster were led throughout the season by linebackers Peter O'Boyle and Greg Foulks. Opening holes up front for the Hub running backs was the job of standout tackle Tim Shank. Also contributing offensively for North were Jeff Sellers and Jeff Brown.

Hubs practice essentials before taking on opponent.

Varsity summer practice started on August 15 and continued through the blistering heat and humidity until school opened. Under the spirited leadership of Coach Galbraith, and assistants, the dedicated Hub squad strived for perfection. The gridders exercised regularly, drilled fundamentals, refined skills, and diligently studied playbooks as they prepared for a rugged schedule. The exhibition season included ability-hiding scrimmages against York High and Jefferson County.

Offensively, the Hubs put points on the board when they had to, averaging 20.3 markers a contest. A satisfying 25-14 victory over powerful T.J., tremendous Homecoming Game, and a narrow loss to Westminster set up the finale at School Stadium.

When the tension-filled game was over the Hubs were the victors by a wide margin of 18-6. By holding the Rebels to their lowest point total of this season the Redmen not only walked away with the city championship but also gained ties for the Tri-State and CVAL titles. Coach Walter Galbraith crowned the season; becoming the area coach of the year.

Diligent harriers attain Class A Title

The members of area teams take off at the start of another meet.

North High's harriers continued a winning tradition as they captured first place finishes in the C.V.A.L. and District meets and a runner-up spot in the T.S.L. These triumphs rested as the squad took the class A Maryland State title. Led by the performances of seniors David Hardy and Allen Hovermale, Coach Patrick Messina's charges amassed an impressive 6-1 season. Seniors Dave Summerlin and Julian Oliver, sophomore Keith Tagg, and juniors Mark Fuller and Bob Waters completed the squad that ran away with the title at College Park.

As the season opened against St. Maria, the cagers knew they would have to rely on seasoned veteran Eric Shewbridge and co-captains Larry Miller and Dana Williams to spark them until the squad gained experience. The cagers proved tough, remaining unbeaten as they entered the Hub City Tournament. The tourney, coordinated by Coach Weirich, was dominated by powerful Jefferson with North placing second. "Shew" made the All-Tournament team.

Superb play, experience, and depth combined to supply North with its best tennis team ever. Under the leadership of Coach L. Brumback, the Hubs slammed their way to ten victories and only one defeat while tying for the District Championship. North received outstanding play from undefeated racketeers Frank Lusby and Dave Summerlin. P. Coleman and B. Gardner also played well.

Hubs drown foes with a pail of hits

Rain proved to be the spoiler as North's J.V.'s sloshed through a weather-shortened 4-1 schedule. The strong point of the squad was the pitching staff. Led by Dennis Klick and Joseph Weaver, the Hub moundsmen held opposing hitters to a minimum. Coach Murphy's hitters proved to be more than adequate, as Jeff Forcino, Dave Koontz and Keith Hall led the powerful lineup.

Club works to establish area interest

Successful year for A.F.S. produces two exchange students.

The A.F.S. club was linked with two exchange students this year, Maria Torres from Ecuador and our U.S. student, Debbie Tari, in Brazil. Through this club, better understanding of the people of the Americas had come about. To sponsor a student next year, the club sold calendars, Christmas cards, held skating parties, and a Christmas party. Area schools were invited hoping to spark interest to start new chapters.

Telephone conversations via ham radio bring Maria closer to her family in Ecuador.

With the help of AFS, Debbie Tari and Maria Torres helped unite the Americas this year as they traveled to new lands and homes. Beginning Feb. 1, 1972, Debbie spent a year with the Farias, a Brazilian family living in the small town Fernandopolis, while Maria came to Hagerstown in the summer and stayed with the Robert F. Zeigler family. Jenny and Illce were the American and Brazilian "sister" counterparts for Maria and Debbie.

New voices are added to North High by the Freshman Chorus.

The Choral Department, consisting of the Freshman, General, A Capella, and Madrigals spent a fruitful year performing both in and outside the school. Under the able direction of Mr. William Makell, the different choral groups were called upon for several auspicious occasions with the A Capella highlighting the Veterans Day assembly and the Madrigals appearing on T.V..

Government motivates involvement

Perhaps the most underrated organization at North, the Student Government this year continued to battle student disinterest. Various methods, such as suggestion boxes and homeroom reaction sheets were employed to improve communication between the representative and the represented. Gary Cook, as president, supervised the governments day to day activities and projects.

Children's theatre debuts in this area

The newest and one of the most successful organizations at North High this year came in the form of the North Country Players. Advisor Jay Fignar worked with a predominantly freshman membership. The club performed children's plays for audiences ranging from grade school pupils to a teachers' association, with musical accompaniment.

North Country Players constantly rehearse to perfect their performances.

Hawaii idea offers holiday atmosphere

Seeking new horizons, the Prom committee set sail for Hawaii. Doug Heck and Margaret Harrison directed the juniors. The construction workers sculpted with wood and chicken wire at Lee St., while the mural and scenery committees painted and made flowers at Haven Lutheran Church. These and other committees put in long hours to create a romantic Pacific setting.

The victory, the Homecoming Court, the cheerleaders, the band . . . everything.

Wishful thinking lurks in the minds of 18 senior girls.

As excitement heightens, Karen Delucia exhibits nervous anticipation.

Barbara Dayhoff and Bill Curtis are in each others mind and heart.

The 1972 Homecoming Queen is . . . Miss Barbara Dayhoff.

Reality descends on Barbara as C. Palmer pins on her sash.

Innovations excite Homecoming events

As part of halftime, "Shaft" is played in honor of the new queen and her court.

Tradition was put aside this year for the fall Homecoming. The major part of the affair was moved out-of-doors to the football stadium. Originating at North High, a car caravan transported the court, two by two, through the center of town en route to the game. Upon entering, each girl was introduced to the attending public and escorted to her seat. The mood of the game turned to frenzy during halftime, as each person heard Barbara Dayhoff titled the 1972-73 Homecoming Queen. Clear weather and a winning score completed part one of Homecoming.

Sparked by a tantalizing play, the court reacts spontaneously.

Mr. Lemmert explains the duties of queen to B. Dayhoff in a rush of excitement.

As the triumphant team entered the gym, the senior squad members left, and joined their homecoming counterparts, becoming a visible part of the continuing activities. Spotlighted, the senior pairs took the seemingly endless walk to their court seats with Queen Barbara Dayhoff and King Bill Curtis concluding the procession. A stuffed dog, matching flannel shirts and a few embarrassed kisses were some of the assorted gifts that were bestowed upon the queen. When the presentations subsided, Barb and Bill led the first dance to the Kunkel Brothers' blues.

Adding to the spirited atmosphere of the season, the Christmas Dance provided couples with good musical entertainment. Traveling from Winchester, Va., Black Rock was the first soul band to perform at North in recent years. The semi-formal affair was sponsored by the Student Government, with Lynn Jones leading the committee which provided decorations and refreshments.

Pizza and hamburgers, paint splattered jeans and sneakers, refrigerated paper maché and pomp paste are synonomous with Prom Committee. The workers were capably led by Barbara Dayhoff and Alan Hovermale, who overcame many daily crises. No one committee can be singled out, they were all indispensable in creating the overall effect. Music and decor highlight prom night

Mixed emotions of pride and relief color the faces of the prom supervisors.

Mounting excitement came to a climax May 20th after months of anticipation, as the class of '73 led hundreds to the fantasy world of "Never-Never Land." Each couple was elevated through Wendy's bedroom window and traveled skyward over London, landing in Peter Pan's dominion. The encompassing atmosphere of the theme was developed by an underground treehouse, Skull Rock, the gallion, the Indian village, and Mermaid Mountain. A spacious cove sheltered the "Sheepherders," who performed expertly. Midnight came all too soon.

A break from the traditional full length presentation, this year the senior class produced a series of contemporary playlets centering on the trials of love. "Lovers and Other Strangers" was well received by the student body and public in each of its five performances. Director Miss Ingrid Lachotta authored the prologue and two additional pieces rendered by the cast. A more informal staging was complemented by live accompaniment.

Spirit, always in abundance at North High, showed itself resoundingly throughout '72 and '73. Students learned that "win" is really spelled SP-IR-IT or V-I-C-T-O-R-Y, proving that Hubs cheered better than they spelled. Outside of the cheerleaders' and spirit committees' work, the students themselves helped promote spirit.

Coordinators enforce Hub policies

Mr. Galbraith, Miss Kiblinger, and Mr. Downs attacked the first obstacle of the school year by giving an informal, though frank, talk on school policies. Students realized that though they may be initially wary of coordinators, as they progress through high school there are moments when they see through the harsh exterior to the person behind the title. High quality is common among Hub coordinators.

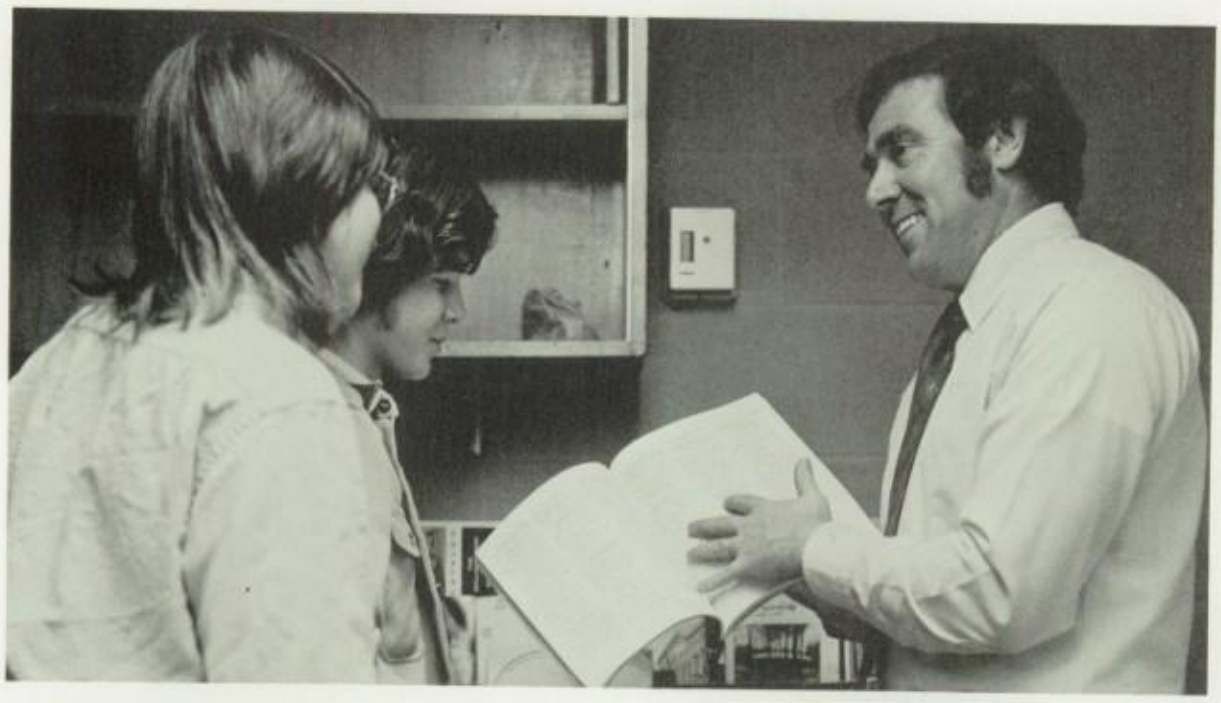
Guidance counselors revamp functions



Various questions asked by students are eagerly answered by Mr. Sweeney, career counselor.

Carpenters and electricians could be heard at the beginning of the school year near the cross corridors as the rush continued to complete the new counseling hub. Counselors were regrouped into college, career, and general guidance departments rather than the traditional class counselors. This change was made to provide a more extensive and directive answer to the individual's needs. North High has now entered its renaissance in student counseling service.

Business is knowledge

Upon leaving North High's business course, all commercial students are equipped with the knowledge required to conquer the executive world. The syllabus selections ranged from a specified curriculum starting in the sophomore year, to the elective of Typing I, which is taken by many seniors to improve their skill for personal use. Few people realized the whereabouts or the notability of the second floor. It was seen by others as the location of a place of 'higher' learning.

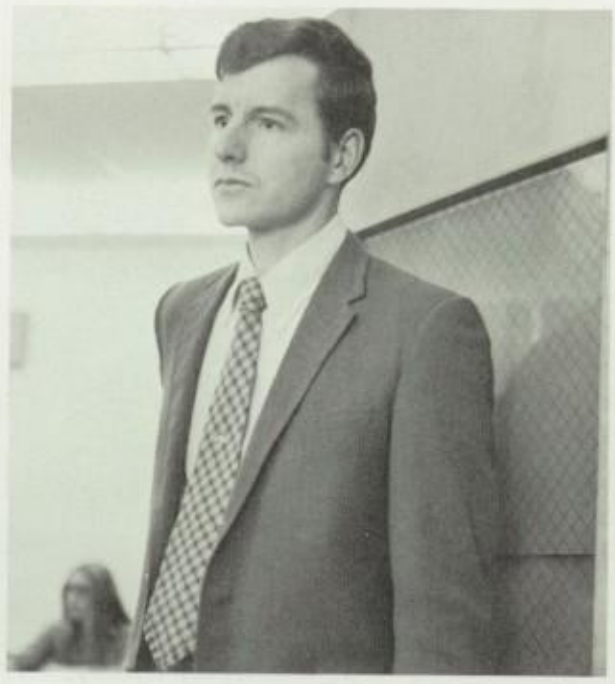
Mr. Faherty drills arithmetic into his class.



The plights of his students incumbers Mr. Ford.

The students entering F building were taken beyond the concept of one plus one. Amid eraser shavings, cracking rulers, over heads, mathematics presented a basis for post-school occupations. After passing courses, and abstract algebraic expressions, the student became aquainted with Mr. Cal-Q-Lus. Instructors continued their all-out endeavor to help students understand the most abstruse reasoning.

Probing minds labor in lab and field

Creating a bubble out of heated glass is junior Robert Willis.

Weather reports, various "stiffs", acid concotions and bewildering Ph tests typified the Science Department to its inhabitants as it continued to provide both standardized and new educational opportunities. Instructors for the innovative studies offered to the upperclassmen were still working out problems which accompanied a new curriculum. The underclassmen labored through mandatory, but necessary classes.

C. Stockslager extracts solution.

Industrial Arts students cut metal.

Mastered skills fulfill occupations

The Practical Arts Department presented a bulk of the elective studies offered this year. Providing a predominately male segment of North with essential opportunities, the department functioned in areas of wood and metal shop, mechanical arts. V.E.R.S.E., V.I.C.T., electronics, and Drivers Ed. This department established future bases.

Home Economics augments course dimensions

Twilla Castang wipes down ceramic candy dish after applying underglaze.

The Home Economics Department captured the interests of both sexes, proving to be a worthwhile program. Welcoming the handicrafts course to the lineup, the study included foods, clothing, tailoring, child care and home decorations. The novice discovered in himself unknown talents, while the intermediate was able to improve his abilities. With the aid of qualified instructors and advanced courses, the student found liberty to attempt new dimensions of home economics.

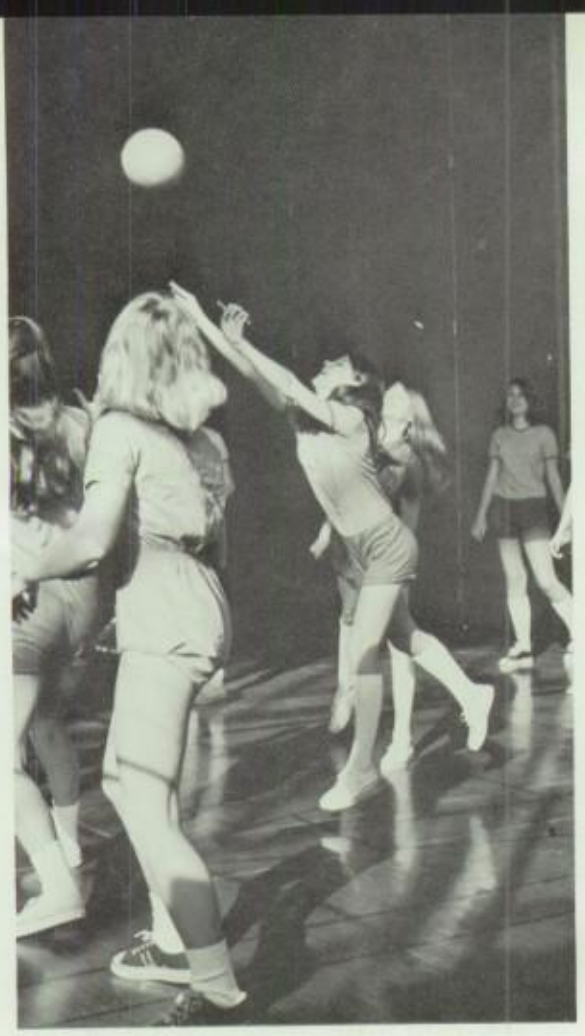
Gym offers welcome diversity



Girls get rigorous workout in volleyball game.

Girls participate in basketball activity.

To some students, gym classes afforded a welcome break in a tiresome day, while to others it was a daily chore. In either case the student should have realized that the instructors of this department have provided the best physical education courses in the state. From bowling to baseball the range of activities gave the student some option.

The janitorial staff performed many unglorified labors throughout the year while continuing to personify sanitation. Women's Lib was illustrated as the custodians boasted a new lady maintenance engineer.

Hair nets, aprons, humidity, and pandemonium were just a few of the everyday associations for the cafeteria workers. Dedicated to the cause of nutrition, they strived to prepare satisfying lunches for the hundreds who consumed them.

Senior leaders strive for success

Glowing Pres. C. Myers prides achievements.

Keeping the senior accounts in line is C. Kipe.

June of 1973 wasn't too different from the previous years. A class was graduating, a school year ending, a summer renewing. For the seniors, it was the closing of one chapter, the commencing of another. Looking back on the many successes and failures of the year, intermingling laughter with tears, the seniors faced a concept novel to them as they paused on the border between adolescence and adulthood.

Class advisors grin at senior success.

Vo-Tech has diversity

D. Mills coaches S. Graff in Data Processing.

Printing apprentices develop new skills.

The Vocational-Technical Center 'made the big move' in December of the 1972 school year. It was relocated on Oak Ridge Drive, and the center dialated to include Warehousing and General Maintenance, Plumbing, and Home Care Management courses. A resource center completed the renewal plan at the county Vo-Tech center.

By filing an application in the spring of their sophomore year, Vo-Tech hopefuls prepared for their next two scholastic years. This process moved one into different schooling and toward an occupational future.

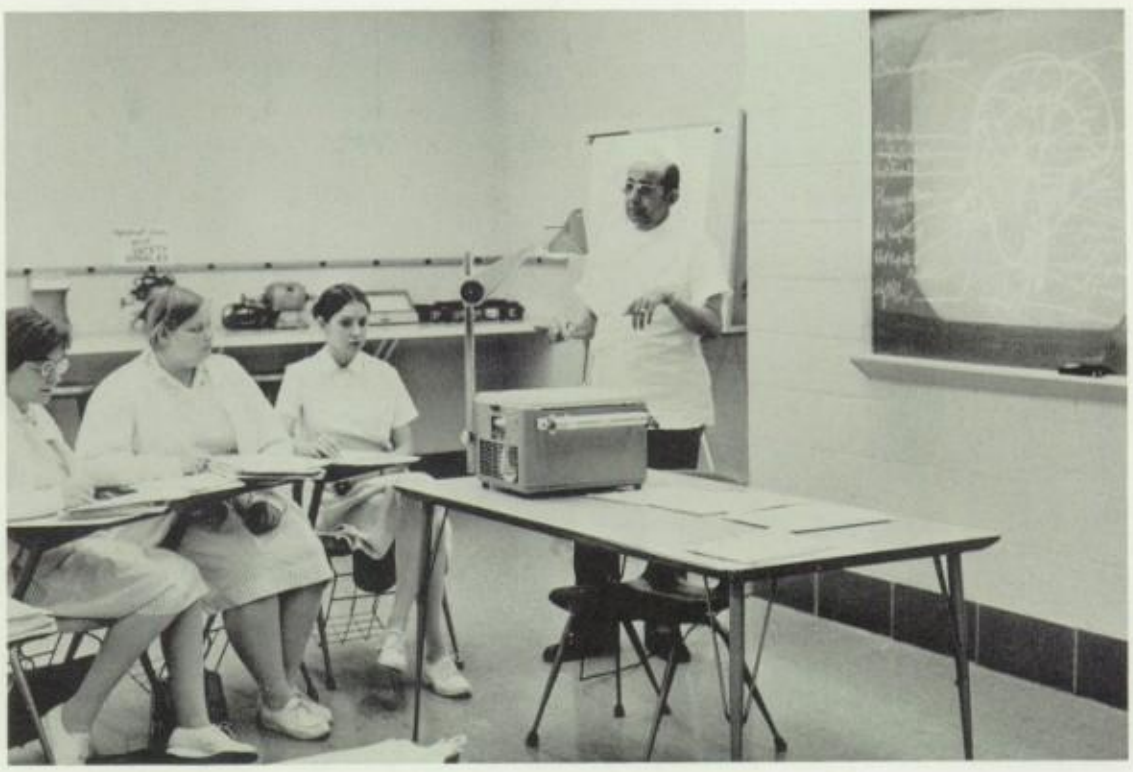
R. Zeigler nears completion of his sawhorse as G. Shriever works on drafting.

Greenhouse furnishes leafy classroom for V. Wasler, S. Hawbaker, and M. McGowan.

J. Buckley and P. Humphries probe into freon.

J. Tracy and J. Young enhance masonry talents.

M. Snodderly, J. Blake work together in electronics.



E. Sprankle, A. Manford, D. Young gain knowledge of dentistry.

S. Shuck welds metal for his project.

Diligently, G. Cunningham checks blueprints.

Skillfully, D. Landaker sketches.

G. Redmond, G. Sellers, B. McCoy cut metal.

D. Grimm, G. Robinson detect heart motion.

S. Wallech, C. Miller fix food in food service.

Junior class advisor, Mr. McCammon.

Juniors start their new year right

Brian Pile smiles at the sunny prospects of a Tom-Watt Kit.

After stepping into the rank of upperclassmen the juniors spent the year in a hurried effort to raise money for their anticipated prom. President Diane Poole urged class members in several projects including Christmas tree sales, basketball concession stands, Tom-Watt Kit sales, and the decoration of a local car dealership. As the new advisor, Mr. Donald McCammon guided the class of '74 in all activities.

Able leadership unites sophomores

Another good turn out for a sophomore class bakesale.

Mrs. Vickie Keedy and Mr. Jack Ebersole joined as class advisors to aid President Jenni Horst in an effort to unite the class of '75. At a meeting held in mid-December the president explained money-raising projects, introduced sophomore leaders, and requested comments and suggestions from her fellow classmates, with the hope of gaining enthusiasm. By spring, plans were made for the '74 prom.

It's the End

As the aftermath of a first,
Whether it be a snowfall
Or a lifetime,
A vast emptiness can be left
In the mind and soul.
At that moment
Reflect the past,
Focus on the present,
And envision the future.
In one sense it's the end,
But in another . . .

It's the Beginning

Hello
Just thought I would add short comment! Reserved
I hate to write in books cause I usually get mushy but not with you!! Ha Ha! For
Jr. Yr. books cause your different - Ha Ha Ha Ha Ha you!! Ha Ha! Jackie Bear

Ok Crap I don't know what to do I mean write from, manage to, closest be good take care of who you go out with OK!!! Ha!! you — Some advice - don't be Mundane, Childish, immature, or prostitute your body as Mrs. Britten says. Take care of yourself don't let any body (like me) rib you too much - but I had fun doing it!!! - I know you'll come see me!! Take care in college
I don't have to say come see me!! - I know you'll come see me so
I hope you get the most out of what you seek - Now all kidding aside - I still give advice, keep in touch, don't get in trouble. Call me - or better yet come out & help with the "work - Jim really like a "strange" brother to me - but just remember You loves ya & so do I so take care of yourself love ya Julie

Jim-
Well, this year's finally over. Good For luck in what ever you do later. You've Love and Kisses been really nice to take all our jokes Ann
But we've had a lot of fun & a lot of laughs (Ha Ha!)
Especially at lunch! And thanks for all the fun times we've been together, especially the Peoria.
You're a nice guy and a good friend, and I'm sure
I'll see you for a long time. Just think - next year
I'll be a junior and you'll be a FRESHMAN!
what a laugh. I bet you'll miss our lunches! Anyway, good luck in the future. (What you need is a lucky penny in your shoe!) Ann

Tim,

Can you believe you finally made it. It has been nice knowing you this year. Best of Luck in your future years. Never forget the fun it was working for Mr. Halbraith. Ugh! I'd stamp my name, but you know how it is!!

Michelle Mowen "73"

Tim,

Well, we made it. Next year it will be a SENIOR and you a FRESHMAN. Are you going to be in trouble. Best of luck to you in a couple of years. Take care of the van. It's been a real pleasure to have you as my driver. Enjoy life and keep in touch.

Patty Mowry

Timothy

Well, old buddy, this is the end of our Senior year and all the other years for that matter. Hasn't it been great, though? Well, parts of it anyway. Remember the room at the airport Immediately knew what happened to me when I walked in the backroom of Lucas in the bar so long-dude drunk on the pretty lime. I GOT LOST!! unbelievable. Stay #1 friendly guy for all and don't forget DIL take care

Lucy Parker

Tim,

Well its over. Next year you will be a senior and you will be the boss of the van. Remember you to come with a mellow Formal's and most expecially Don't forget Class. And most by Mr. Makely.

Ann (AEA) Heath

No Remedy Noel Boyer

AFA (1973)

Tim

We finally made it to the end. I'm glad! Its really been fun knowing ya this yr. always remember our crazy Eng. class & how we very seldom worked. Best of luck in the future I hope you succeed in everything you do. Take care of Ya dead!

R.F.K.
Debbie Reed '73

Tim,

It was really nice being in classes with you. This year you're a really nice person and I only ever remember you being mild once. I wish you lots of luck + happiness, Especially with that special girl.

A.F.A.

Teresa "73"

Kubota

Tim,
Best of luck to a really crazy but nice guy. This is it, the end of your years drag. Don't forget that great Pavex forget Mrs. Myers Mass + the skits we put on. Also, never forget the great Joe Nathanson. Well, be good + have fun. Hope to see ya around.

A.F.A.
Chris
Zweigert

Tim,... I just don't know where to start. How about by saying you're the most "unusual" person I know. I can say there's no one quite like you. (thank goodness!) Well... enough for the compliments. Good Luck in the future

(BERRRRR) Joanne
Kaldy

Tim,
Well... Its been fun? Really though, it has been a "good" time involving you. But its all been in fun. Good luck for your future years. In reform school Betsey Fitch (sheet)

Tim,
Well, it was good knowing you. Be good kid. Be the best you can be. Make us proud. Good luck in the future. Graduation
